

Punjab Mail Enters 114th Year: A Glorious Journey Through Time

Mumbai,Shrikant Khuperkar :
Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj Terminus, Mumbai: On June 1, 2025, one of Indian Railways' most iconic trains — the Punjab Mail — completes 113 years of continuous service and rolls proudly into its 114th year. A living legacy on rails, the Punjab Mail has not just transported passengers but has also carried with it the spirit of a nation in motion for over a century.

From Peshawar to Firozpur: A Historic Voyage
When the Punjab Mail first steamed out of the now-defunct Ballard Pier Mole Station in Mumbai on June 1, 1912, India was a different land. The train, operated by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway (GIPR), originally ran all the way to Peshawar, covering a formidable 2,496 kilometers in around 47 hours.Its route passed through the heart of undivided India — Itarsi, Agra, Delhi, and Lahore — before terminating at Peshawar Cantonment. This was more than a train journey; it was a corridor connecting regions, people, and cultures across colonial India.By 1914, the train began originating from Bombay Victoria Terminus (now ChhatrapatiShivajiMaharaj Terminus) and became a daily service on the busy Bombay–Delhi route. Travel time was gradually cut to 27 hours and 10 minutes by the early 1920s, before additional stops in the 1970s extended it back to 29 hours.Today, the Punjab Mail runs between Mumbai and Firozpur Cantonment, covering 1,928 km in 33 hours and 35 minutes, halting at 52 stations. While the route has changed with the times, the train's legacy remains intact. Coaches, Comfort, and Change
In its early days, the Punjab Mail had six coaches — three for passengers and three for postal mail, carrying nearly 288 people. The mid-1930s saw the introduction of Third Class coaches, making the train more accessible to the common man. In 1945, the Punjab Mail became one of the few to offer air-conditioned coaches, marking a leap in passenger comfort.The diesel era began in 1968, with the train being hauled by diesel locomotives up to Jhansi, and eventually up to Delhi and Firozpur by the mid-1970s. A unique feature in the late 1970s and early 1980s was the use of dual-current WCAM/1 locomotives, allowing the train to switch from electric to diesel traction after Igatpuri.In a major upgrade, Linke Hofmann Busch (LHB) coaches replaced the old rake on December 1, 2020, enhancing safety and ride quality. The once-beloved restaurant car was phased out in favor of a modern pantry car. Overbooked and Overwhelmingly Loved Today, the Punjab Mail enjoys more than 250% occupancy, a testament to its continued relevance and the emotional connection it holds for generations of travelers. Its current coach configuration includes:1 AC First Class cum AC-2 Tier, 2 AC-2 Tier, 6 AC-3 Tier, 6 Sleeper Class, 4 General Second Class, 1 Generator Van, 1 SLR (Second Luggage and Guard Van)

Each journey is a blend of nostalgia and necessity, with passengers ranging from seasoned railway enthusiasts to families and workers who depend on its reliability. A Century-Old Symbol of Continuity

The Punjab Mail is more than just a train. It's a moving monument of India's railway heritage. From the colonial era to the modern electric age, it has adapted with grace, retained its charm, and continued to serve — bridging distances, connecting cities, and telling a story that still rolls on steel wheels.As it enters its 114th year, the Punjab Mail stands not just as a train, but as a symbol — of resilience, of legacy, and of the unstoppable rhythm of India.
